

XENIA ADOPTS DAYLIGHT SAVING PLAN

ALLES MAY CONSIDER OCCUPATION OF BERLIN AS MILITARY PENALTY

PLAN OF ACTION WILL BE TAKEN AT CONFERENCE

Inter Allied Supreme Council Meets At Paris, Saturday.

ENTENTE IS FIRM

Completely In Accord That Offers Are Not Satisfactory.

London, April 29.—With the meeting of the interallied supreme council in this city but 24 hours away, the intimation came from Paris today that the eventual military occupation of Berlin may be suggested when the allied representatives assemble. The allies are in complete accord that the Berlin indemnity proposals as made to Washington are not acceptable in their present form and there is no indication that Berlin has taken steps to amend them.

If Germany had hoped to cause a split between Great Britain and France by her new offer, the effort was entirely unsuccessful. This was made emphatically plain by Premier Lloyd George's announcement in the house of commons that the German proposals were inadequate and unsatisfactory. Great Britain stands ready today to back up France should Marshal Foch order an immediate advance of the allied armies into the Ruhr district of Germany.

The German proposals have not been formally transmitted from Washington to the allied governments, but they are fully known both here and at Paris, and the text has been under scrutiny by allied experts in this city since yesterday morning. The allied financial experts will make their report to the supreme council upon the German proposals immediately after the council meets.

It now appears unlikely that an advance of the allied armies into Germany would begin until the middle of next week even if the supreme council sanctions this military penalty. In refusing to give the house of commons an opportunity to discuss the question of occupying the Westphalian coal fields, Premier Lloyd George pointed out that the supreme council is not likely to reach a definite decision before the elapse of several days.

It was reported that Dr. Walter Simons was preparing another note to be transmitted to Great Britain in explanation of the indemnity offer. The previous explanation, indicating that Germany asked more than 42 years in paying her reparations was not satisfactory to British officials.

Door Is Closed.

The door is being closed to further negotiations unless Germany takes hasty action in meeting the original indemnity demands of the allied governments, including the payment of the 12,000,000,000 gold marks which the reparations commission claims due before May 1.

Premier Briand is expected to take the stand that the allies must exert powerful military pressure upon Germany not only to compel Germany to meet her indemnity obligations but also to convince her that she lost the war.

It is understood that the French military council has prepared a program of progressive military action in which occupation of the Ruhr is the first step and he will urge the council to approve this program and give Marshal Foch a free hand in enforcing it.

Hope that the United States will participate actively at the supreme council meeting is dwindling although America may have an observer present to note the course of the negotiations for the information of the Washington government.

PROJECT NEW PLAN FOR ESTABLISHING PEACE IN IRELAND

Irish Moderates Will Make Public Their Proposal.

London, April 29.—A new Irish peace plan embracing a scheme for extended dominion rule for Ireland, shortly will be published by Irish moderates, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

A dispatch from Dublin quoted Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland as saying in an address at Clondeg: "I know for a fact that, if the people of Ireland abandon crime they can obtain a full measure of self government with control of their taxes."

Cardinal Logue apparently referred to an offer made by Premier Lloyd George through Lord Derby, who recently visited Ireland.

BOSTON GIRL TO BE RUSSIAN PRINCESS

Miss Clarissa P. Curtis and Prince Michael Cantacuzescu-Speransky.

Prince Michael Cantacuzescu-Speransky, member of the Russian nobility and now a senior at Harvard, will take for his bride an American girl, Miss Clarissa P. Curtis of Boston. The prince's father was formerly a colonel of Russian cavalry. His mother is the former Julia Dent Grant, granddaughter of President Grant. The wedding will be held in the Episcopal church at Nahant, Mass., June 27.

U. S. To Continue Efforts To Solve Foreign Trouble

Hughes Takes View That Door To Mediation Has By No Means Been Definitely Closed By Allied Decision.

Washington, April 29.—Though apparently fully informed of the attitude of the allies toward the German reparations proposal the Harding administration today gave no evidence that it would consider the task of mediation undertaken by Secretary Hughes a hopeless one.

Being of the opinion that the main point involved is whether the Berlin offer forms a proper basis for negotiation rather than whether it is acceptable, this government takes the view that the door to mediation has by no means been definitely closed by the decision of France and Great Britain as to acceptability.

This view is said to have been conveyed by Secretary Hughes to the representatives of the allied governments in unmistakable if informal terms in conversations held with them yesterday afternoon. These conferences are expected to continue today.

Observers who anticipated the French government's rejection of the German proposals but who nevertheless believed Secretary Hughes had a "trump card up his sleeve," see a key to the situation in the latest elucidation in the American position.

They point out the Harding administration has merely indicated its view that "every man, woman and child," in the United States has a vital interest in the settlement of the reparations controversy. Secretary Hughes' feeling that the world could not get back to normal until a satisfactory solution of that problem is found, agreed to consider bringing any German proposal to the attention of the allies in a manner acceptable to them.

For Mr. Hughes to abandon his efforts merely because the first German proposal did not meet with the entire approval of the allies, it is argued, would be to surrender before the battle were well begun, and the United States would emerge from the encounter with a considerably lessened prestige.

YOUNGSTOWN MAN SHOT IN HIS STORE; RECOVERY EXPECTED

Blame Italian Feud For Gun Play In Ohio City.

Youngstown, April 29.—While he was standing in the door of his cigar store on Front Street last night James Falconi, known to the local underworld as "Big Jim," was shot twice in the right side by an unknown assailant who escaped. Hospital authorities believe he will recover.

Police believe that an Italian feud involving persons prominent in the underworld was the cause of the shooting. Mrs. Falconi who was sitting in an automobile a few feet away, when the shots were fired, his former bartender and three bystanders are held as material witnesses.

Falconi came to Youngstown nine years ago from New York. He had recently been convicted of violation of the federal prohibition law, and sentenced to four months in the work house, but was out on bond, pending an appeal.

CROWN PRINCE CHARGED WITH RECENT BIGAMY

Carol Of Roumania Alleged To Have Two Wives.

PAPER MAKES CHARGE Said To Have Child By First Wife, Report States.

Paris, April 29.—That the crown prince, Carol, of Roumania, committed bigamy when he married the Princess Helen, daughter of King Constantine of Greece, is the sensational charge made by the Gazette de Lausanne.

The Swiss newspaper declares it can prove that the heir to the Roumanian throne never annulled his marriage to his former sweetheart Jeanne Marie Valentine Lambrino, before he married the Greek princess and that the previous marriage was legal in every way. Furthermore, adds the newspaper, the Roumanian crown prince is the father of a baby boy, born to his first wife.

The love affair of Carol and Mile Lambrino, daughter of a Roumanian general, received but scant attention in the newspapers because it passed through a period when the war was engrossing public attention. By court order the Roumanian censor ruthlessly eliminated from all dispatches nearly all references to Mile Lambrino. One Roumanian newspaper which has hinted at some of the facts was suppressed.

Well Known Family.

The Lambrino family is one of the best known in Roumania and enjoyed the intimacy of the court. This intimacy increased when the Germans invaded Roumania and the royal family sought refuge in Jassy where the seat of government was installed.

Prince Carol visited Mile Lambrino nearly every evening at Jassy until his regiment was sent to the Moldavian mountains for the express purpose of breaking up the courtship. But Carol was determined to marry the general's daughter and by a private courier sent her a letter urging her to elope with him to Odessa. He promised that under no circumstances would he ever marry another woman and that if his father persisted in his opposition he would renounce his right to the Roumanian throne.

Mile Lambrino slipped away to Odessa incognito and alone. There, according to the Gazette de Lausanne, the marriage was legally celebrated in the Petrowska Cathedral. The prince wore his uniform and all his decorations. The Russian officers were witnesses and the Roumanian counsel at Odessa sent his felicitations to the newly wedded pair.

ELUDES DETECTIVES OF HER HUSBAND TO FIGHT DIVORCE

Peggy Hopkins Joyce Now In Seclusion At Chicago.

Chicago, April 29.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce has given the slip to the detectives who she declared were spying on her constantly in New York and is in seclusion in Chicago, preparing to fight the divorce proceedings instituted by J. Stanley Joyce, her millionaire husband, it was learned today.

The former Follies girl said she had to flee an espionage system established about her by her husband. She pretended she was going to the country for the week end and slipped away from the sleuths, and hastened to Chicago. For many weeks, she said, her every movement has been spied upon. Peggy's purpose in coming here it was declared was to "fight it out" with her husband. The chief bone of contention between them it is asserted was the jewels and property lavished upon her by Joyce. The property, said to be worth more than $500,000, Peggy claims, is hers while Joyce it is understood will seek to establish legal claims to it.

ANTIOCH PLANS TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF HORACE MANN

In honor of the 126 birth anniversary of Horace Mann founder of Antioch College and foremost educator of his day, a celebration will be held at Antioch next Wednesday.

The plans for the celebration are in the hands of President Arthur E. Morgan, and the affair will be held on the campus providing the weather permits. There will be several speeches on the occasion, but the selection of the speakers has not yet been made by President Morgan, it is said.

There will be an orchestra to furnish music and the singing of College songs. Guests are expected from Dayton, Springfield and Xenia, at the affair.

VOLUNTARY WAGE CUT ANNOUNCED

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 29.—The high cost of servants is coming down.

Mrs. Frances R. Bolling, head of the Pennsylvania Negro Woman's industrial union, announces a voluntary wage cut of 50 cents a day by members of the union. She has just returned from conference at Philadelphia and Harrisburg with other union heads.

The new scale will be $3 and carfare for a day of eight hours from 8 to 4:30 o'clock with half hour for lunch on the employee's time. This cut applies to skilled service of members bearing the union card.

MINIMUM WAGE LEGISLATION TO BE PUSHED OUT

Present Session Of Legislature Not To Pass Measures

VOTE DOWN PLAN Schrimper Bill Fails To Get O. K. Of The Senate.

Columbus, April 29.—Prediction was made in legislative circles today that no minimum wage legislation will be enacted during the present session of the state legislature.

After a three hour debate the senate, by a vote of 29 to 8 turned down the proposal of Senator Reynolds, Cuyahoga county, Democrat, that the senate place on the calendar for passage the original Schrimper minimum wage bill as it passed the house.

In voting down Senator Reynolds' motion, the senate accepted the majority report of the committee on manufactures and commerce which reported out Senator Chatfield's (Hamilton county) substitute for the Schrimper bill.

Republican senators Burke, Elyria; Davis, Butler; Sparks, Montgomery; Jones, Trumbull; and Bender, Day and Rowe, Cuyahoga, joined Senator Reynolds in supporting the original Schrimper bill.

It is claimed that if the senate passes the Chatfield substitute, which is not considered likely, Governor Davis is expected to comply with the request of the women leaders that he veto it. These women want the Schrimper bill to become a law as it passed the house.

The Chatfield bill provides for a minimum wage commission consisting of the Lieut. Governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and auditor, empowered only to publish its findings and the names of employers refusing to comply with its orders.

The Schrimper bill authorized the governor to appoint a commission empowered to investigate and establish minimum wages for women and children and providing penalties for enforcement of decrees.

Replying to the charge, made on the floor of the senate, by Senator Brand, Champaign county, that Gov. Davis threatened to attack the senator in newspapers if the senator failed to support the original Schrimper bill, the governor declared that Senator Brand's statements constitute "a case, pure and simple, of cheap politics, designed to defeat the Schrimper bill."

The governor said that the senator's statements were "made out of whole cloth," and were "inspired by persons opposed to me politically." Gov. Davis again declared his desire that the Schrimper bill be passed and said he believed the senate will pass it.

NEW TIME GOES INTO EFFECT IN THIS CITY AT 2 A. M. ON SUNDAY

Commission Passes Ordinance As Emergency Measure At Regular Meeting Thursday Evening By Vote Of Four To One.

EFFECTIVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 25

Measure Holds Good This Summer Only and Will Be Submitted To Vote Of People For Passage In The Future.

Daylight saving time becomes effective in this city Sunday morning, May 1, at two o'clock.

By a vote of four to one, the City Commission passed an ordinance providing for daylight saving, and by the same vote, made it an emergency measure to become effective at once. Mayor Arthur Whalen was the only member of the Commission who expressed his disapproval by voting against the plan.

The passage of the daylight saving ordinance will come as a distinct surprise to many Xenia citizens, who did not know that the Commission was planning to take it up at the meeting Thursday night. That the fact that the proposition was to come before the Commission however, leaked out, was evidenced by the presence of at least two objectors, who talked against the move.

Gilbert Hisey and Albert Randall were the two objectors who addressed the Commission on the matter. Mr. Hisey said that railroad men were against the measure, and that in his opinion it should be put to a vote of the people.

The recommendation of Mr. Hisey fell on fertile ground in the Commission. While acting on the belief that the plan would have to go into effect immediately to do any good this year on motion of Commissioner Harry Fisher, it was decided to change the ordinance to make it effective for only the summer of 1921, and to submit the question of future daylight saving to a vote of the people at the August primary. This recommendation met with the approval of the Commission, and the ordinance was passed under this condition. Mayor Whalen, who voted against its passage, but the four members favoring the plan provided a sufficient number to pass the ordinance as an emergency measure to take effect at once.

Xenia people will move their clocks and watches ahead at two o'clock Sunday morning.

Most people, however, in order to be on time Sunday, will move up the hands of their time pieces Saturday night before retiring. The plan will be effective until the last Sunday in September, when the time will change back by the same method. The change of time places Xenia on the same time now as Dayton, Cincinnati and Columbus, in this section, and also Cleveland, which, as it preserves Eastern time without a change, is put on the same time basis as the cities under daylight saving.

BANDITS HOLD UP BAGGAGE AGENT; GET REGISTERED MAIL

Bayonne, N. J., April 29.—Bandits early today stole three mail pouches, one of them containing registered matter, from the baggage agent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey while he was taking them from the station across the street to the postoffice. Matthew Lyons, the baggage agent, was shot in the face when he attempted to resist the robbers. The amount of money in the pouches is not known.

A fire alarm turned in about a block away just before the robbery occurred attracted all attention away from scene of the holdup. The police believe the robbers turned in the alarm as a ruse. The bandits escaped in an automobile.

Lyons was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. He was armed but was shot down before he had a chance to draw his gun. An alarm has been telephoned broadcast throughout the metropolitan district. Lyons gave a fairly good description of three of the bandits. The police believe four took part in the robbery. An auto resembling the one used by the robbers was found later in the outskirts of the city.

Postoffice inspectors arrived from New York soon after the robbery and took charge of the federal end of the investigation.

They stated that no estimate of the loss can be made until all of the mail has been checked up.

EXPECT JURY WILL GET CASE FRIDAY

Cleveland, April 29.—It is expected that before night the jury will be considering the case of James F. McCaffery, charged with perjury upon the basis of testimony given by him in the first trial of William H. McGannon for murder. The state rested its case late yesterday and one witness for the defense was heard.

Attorney William Corrigan for the defense said this morning he was uncertain as to how many witnesses would be offered in McCaffery's defense.

STEAMSHIP WITH 450 PERSONS, ASHORE

Block Island, R. I., April 29.—The Portuguese steamship Morn' ucano carrying 450 passengers from Lisbon to New Bedford, Mass., went ashore in the fog on the west side of Block Island today. The ship is resting easy and apparently is in no immediate danger. Wrecking tugs have been summoned from New London, Conn., and an attempt will be made to pull the steamer into deep water at high tide.

DOROTHY ARNOLD STORY IS DOUBTED

Middletown, Conn., April 29.—Authorities here were frankly skeptical today of the story told by Mrs. Leon A. Ingraham of Durham that she was the missing Dorothy Arnold of New York. Mrs. Ingraham vanished from her home here last Saturday after telling the story. Her husband, who married her in 1917 said today that he did not believe his wife was the Arnold girl. According to word received from New York the Arnold family has investigated Mrs. Ingraham's story and pronounced it false.

PARALYSIS CAUSES DEATH OF PROMINENT WHOLESALE DRUGGIST

Columbus, O., April 29.—Paralysis caused the death of George B. Kauffman 66, president of the Kaufman and Lattimer Company, wholesale drug firm, here. The body will be buried in Oak Grove cemetery, Delaware.

After 30 years service as member of the Ohio state university faculty it is said that if the terms offered are rejected by the union that building contractors will consider such action equivalent to a violation of the general agreement and will henceforth operate under "open shop" condition.

His widow was Eunice Hughes, of Delaware.

Akron Man Says He's On Job Every Day Since Taking Tanlac, Feeling Just Fine.

"I haven't lost any time from work since I finished my first bottle of Tanlac," said H. Ryan, well known watchman at the Metropolitan Building, residing at 93 Lincoln St., Akron, Ohio.

"Yes, sir, Tanlac went right after my troubles and now I feel like a brand-new man. Last winter I had an attack of rheumatism that got so bad I couldn't walk. My knees swelled up to twice their normal size and it seemed that my trouble was going to get the best of me, as I had to give up work. My stomach was out of order also, and after meals I bloated all up and suffered misery for hours. I had to be taking something for constipation all the time. "Noticing in the papers about Tanlac helping so many others, I fell in line for my share of the benefits and I certainly did get a wonderful share. My rheumatism is entirely gone and my stomach is in such fine condition I can hardly tell I ever had indigestion. Tanlac is simply great and I'm glad to let others know about it." adv

ENDORSEMENT GIVEN FESTIVAL BY RETAIL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Further endorsement of the plan of holding a Fall Festival here next September, was given by the Retail Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held Friday morning.

As a result of the meeting the committee will start out next Tuesday on its campaign to sell booth space in an effort to secure the Festival for this city. If 1,500 feet of space is pledged to the committee it will sign up for the carnival with Forest S. Secrest, of Chillicothe, who is producing it.

Mr. Secrest is a retired hardware merchant of Chillicothe. That city has been holding Fall Festivals for several years and it was conceived by Mr. Secrest that if several cities joined together in the Festival plan that concessions could be secured cheaper and better Festivals arranged for cities on the circuit.

For this reason, he has been signing up Festivals in a number of cities in this section, his latest acquisition being Wapakoneta. Washington C. H., Greenfield, Sidney and Chillicothe are other cities that will hold Festivals this year under that plan, while Xenia, Kenton, Bellefontaine and London are considering the proposition.

If Xenia merchants contract for 1,500 feet of booth space, the Festival is assured, and that is all the actual work local business men will have to do. Mr. Secrest's plan of Festival production calls for the placing of the booths, booking the concessions, advertising the Festival within a radius of 50 miles, providing the lights, decorations, music and free attractions, extra police and a clean-up squad to see that everything is put in shape after the affair is over. Exhibitions, parades and concerts will be daily features of the big week if it is agreed upon here.

LOSES SUIT TO SET ASIDE BRYAN WILL;

L. D. Bryan, brother of John Bryan, late eccentric poet-farmer of Yellow Springs, lost his suit to set aside the will of his brother, when the Court of Appeals at Cincinnati Thursday, sustained the Common Pleas Court in its dismissal of the suit.

John Bryan was the former owner of a physician's supply house in Cincinnati and interested in a number of other projects in which he amassed a large fortune. His estate near Yellow Springs he willed to the state, to be used for any public purpose so long as religious services were not permitted to be held on the grounds.

L. D. Bryan's brother sued to set aside the will and the Common Pleas Court dismissed the suit the Court of Appeals now affirming that action.

JOHN B. HARSHMAN APPOINTED CITY ATTORNEY OF DAYTON

John B. Harshman, of Dayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harshman of North King street, this city, was appointed city attorney of Dayton to succeed W. S. McConaughy, who resigned, by City Manager Barber, Thursday.

With the announcement of the appointment of the former Xenia man as city attorney, Manager Barber also announced his plans of relocating the city legal department in the city building.

Mr. Harshman has been connected with the city since 1914 with the exception of a few months he was in the army. His first place was clerk of the city commission, when the city manager form of government was instituted. PAINFULLY BURNED BY HIGH TENSION WIRE ON THURSDAY

Small copper strands, concealed in a cloth tape measure, to prevent the tape from stretching, formed the path for the electric current from a high tension wire with bruised insulation, that caused painful burns and shock to Albert Quist, Chestnut street, a fireman in the department of signals of the Pennsylvania railroad Thursday.

The accident happened when Quist was working with fellow signal department employees between Columbus and Altan. In attempting to measure the height of a high tension wire from the ground, he threw his tape measure, apparently a cloth non-conductor across the wire. Because the insulation was off the electric wire, the current passed through five or six tiny strands of copper in the tape measure to the signalman. He received burns in spots all over his body and suffered greatly from shock.

The injured man was given first aid by fellow workmen and taken to his home in this city where he was attended by Dr. W. A. Galloway, the company physician.

DISCUSS TELEPHONE COMPANY MERGER

Columbus, O., April 29.—Directors of the Ohio State Telephone company at a special meeting here this afternoon, expect to discuss the proposed merger of the company with the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. If the merger takes place, properties valued at $60,000,000 will be involved.

Legislative activity, both state and national, is on in an effort to facilitate such a merger. The state legislature has not only passed a bill changing state laws as to permit the proposed merger, but has adopted a resolution requesting Ohio's senators and congressmen at Washington to support similar action by congress.

U. S. Senator Willis has just introduced a bill seeking to authorize the interstate commerce commission to exercise power over proposed consolidations of telephone companies similar to that it now exercises over railroad and express companies.

It concludes with two letters written by young Frenchmen who were killed on the morning the armistice was signed.

Paul C. Stetson, superintendent of schools at Muskegon, Mich., was elected superintendent of the Dayton city schools to succeed Frank W. Miller, at a salary of $8,000 a year by the Dayton board of education, Thursday night. He will be given a three year contract.

The appointment of Stetson, culminates a question of long standing, which finally ended in a political wrangle between Democratic and Republican newspapers in Dayton, the former charging that the school board was in the hands of Chairman Brower, of the Republican executive committee while the Republican organs charged Democrats wanted a return to the "Boss" Greer machine.

It is said that the election of Stetson Thursday night was unanimous on the part of the board, and followed a long discussion, in which a number of citizens, taking part, asked for the appointment of a local man. Stetson will assume his duties in Dayton, September 1.

DAYLIGHT SAVING PASSES.

Xenia has joined the ranks of other progressive cities of the state. By a four-fifths vote of its commission the daylight saving ordinance, long agitated in the city, and strongly urged by the Gazette and Republican for over a year, has been passed as an emergency measure, and will become effective at 2 a. m. Sunday.

The move is a wise one. That it is popular with the great majority of Xenia people is attested by the fact that agitation for it, once a mere whispering, and detected by the Gazette and Republican a year ago, in a straw vote, has become distinctly audible. The commission, feeling the pulse of public sentiment, decided on the plan to push the measure through as an emergency measure.

The new time will work inconvenience on some. That is undisputed, but while it may prove a hardship in some quarters, it is believed that the benefits to be derived fully justify, if not make imperative, the new time. It will mainly benefit the large class of workers, men and women who are forced to spend long hours indoors at their work. These people have fixed hours for labor. They must be there during that time, and to them, an extra hour of daylight, at the time in the day when they can advantageously use it, means considerable.

The employing class, and we include therein, roughly speaking farmers and business heads as well as members of the professions, are to a greater extent foot-loose. They can take an afternoon or a day off at times, while to the average employe this is impossible.

In view of the fact also that practically every city in the entire state has adopted daylight saving, the passage of such an ordinance here, is virtually essential to the best interests of the community at large, both from the standpoint of business and convenience.

The city commission is to be congratulated on effecting the passage of this measure, as a step calculated to prove a benefit to the great majority of citizens of this community.

TOO BAD, TOO BAD, FOR THE SAD, SAD SCRUBBERS.

A writer who has recently visited Russia and Poland is very much upset emotionally by the fact that he saw members of old aristocracy forced to do menial work. "How tragic it was," he laments, "to see famous old generals answering calls and mending boots, striving while they wept, eminent scientists and philosophers compounding unsavory dishes and princesses and countesses scrubbing, washing and sewing."

It is always, of course, sad to see elderly persons forced to hard labor at unaccustomed tasks, but somehow, to an American, the emphasis has been placed by the writer on the wrong end of the story.

It isn't exactly tragic, from the American, democratic point of view, to see people mending boots, cooking, scrubbing or sewing. The tragedy of the fact that these helpless aristocrats were not trained in youth so that they could do such tasks easily and well. Our pioneer grandfathers and grandmothers of gentle breeding and high ideals as these Russian noblemen and women, and they performed all these tasks when necessary, did them well, and held their heads none the less high because of the necessity.

It is true that the Bolshevik regime is bad. Also it is undemocratic. Also, the proletarians, are taking malicious joy in making the people who were once their oppressors do the hardest and most unpleasant work. That is revenge, not democracy.

The characteristic of a real democracy is opportunity for all, and for all alike. And to an American, the characteristic of an aristocrat is not that he is a person sacred from the necessity of cleaning the streets, but that, if set to clean streets, he cleans his section better than the other sections and uses his head while he does it, to think up better and swifter ways of cleaning streets, so that all his fellow-workers may profit by his having been on the job.

The Red rule is bad. It must eventually, be eliminated. But sentimentalism about necessary work doesn't help any. Let us keep our emphasis on straight.

WONDERFUL BANQUET TO HON. JOHN WANAMAKER, AGED 83.

Friends and admirers of John Wanamaker, from President Harding down to humblest stock-room boy in the store on Tuesday joined in an impressive tribute to the Philadelphia merchant. The occasion was the sixtieth anniversary of the establishment of the Wanamaker business.

A luncheon for Mr. Wanamaker was given in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford. The affair was in the nature of a public testimonial from the citizens of Philadelphia to the man who, by his own industry and enterprise, rose from a brick-yard boy to a position of pre-eminence in the mercantile world. Eight hundred men prominent in the affairs of city, State and Nation, attended the luncheon.

Mr. Wanamaker was proclaimed "the first citizen of Philadelphia, the greatest merchant known to the civilized world and one of the foremost citizens of the Republic" in address by James M. Beck, formerly Special Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

When Mr. Beck had finished his address, which was a magnificent and poetically worded tribute to the guest of honor and in which he drew an analogy between him and Benjamin Franklin, Mr. Wanamaker arose to reply.

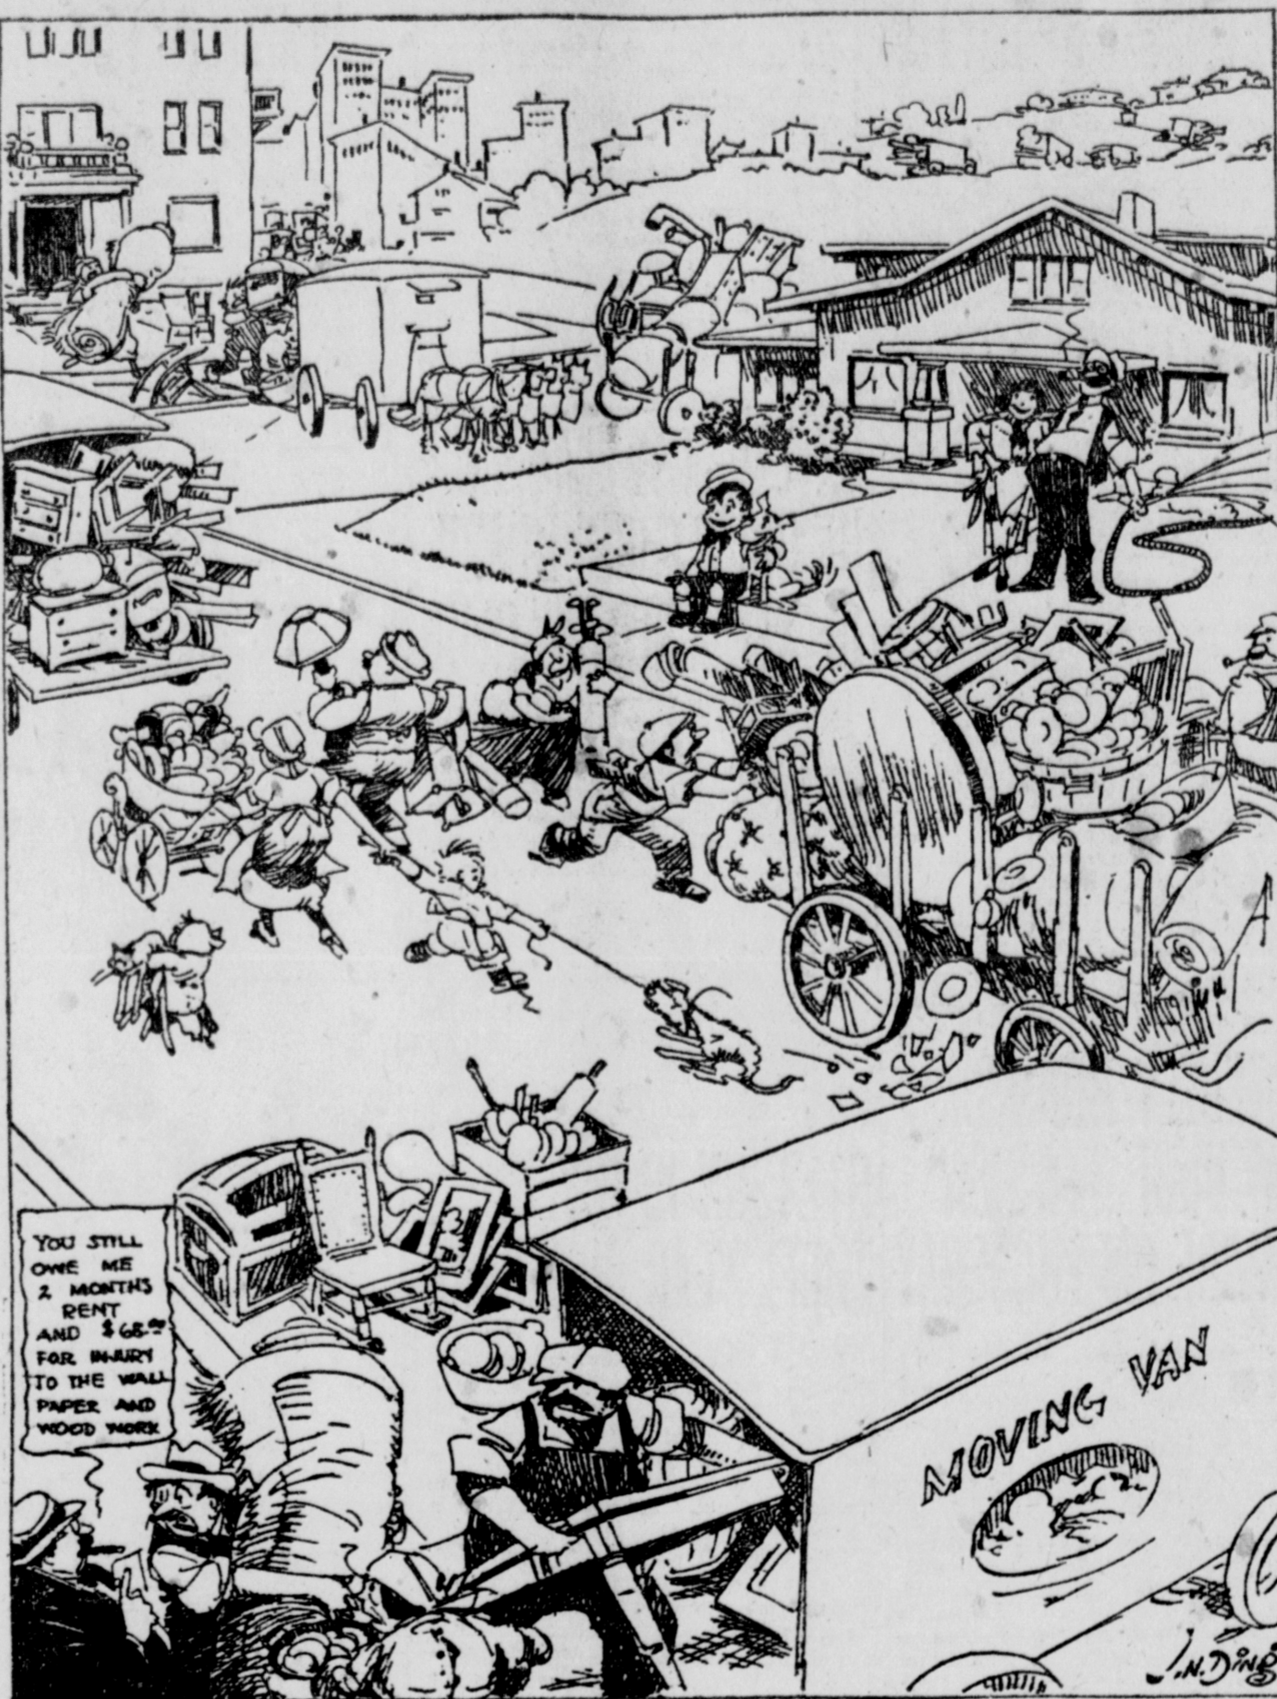

The merchant, who will be eighty-three years old next July, at first was unable to find either his voice or words in which to express himself. In fact, he was so overcome with emotion that, for a minute, at least, he found it hard to stand erect, and he put his right arm around Cardinal Dougherty and leaned heavily upon his shoulder. Tears streamed down his cheeks.

But he soon recovered himself. The Cardinal smiled at him encouragingly, and Mr. Wanamaker said:

"You know, at the time I was a boy we Protestants would not speak to Roman Catholics. I thank God all that has changed. I love this man and there is nothing he could ask me that I would not do for him with joy in my heart."

Then, with a radiant smile of pleasure and satisfaction, he launched into his address.

AN EDITORIAL ON BUYING

There are some stores which brag about selling things which are not advertised because they say they are able to cut the price, giving the buyer money which has been "saved" by not advertising.

Such stores would have you believe that advertising "costs" a great deal of money.

Let's see what advertising actually means. There are a number of newspapers in the United States which print 300,000 copies every day. It is generally conceded that four people read each newspaper, but to be on the safe side, we will assume that three people read each newspaper.

A newspaper with a 300,000 circulation, therefore, is read by practically 900,000. But to be conservative let us say 600,000, which you will note is 100,000 more than a half million people. An advertisement in that newspaper measuring ten inches up and down in a single column costs $84. For that comparatively small amount of money 600,000 people are told about something which they should buy and where they can buy it. The same proportions apply whatever may be the circulation of a newspaper.

Such advertisements tell you, tell your neighbors and tell your friends in an entirely different part of the city.

On the basis of 300,000 circulation, for each dollar that is spent, 7,142 people are told about the thing which is advertised. For one hundred pennies you were told about it and 7,141 other people were told about it.

What you are interested in most is how much it actually costs that man who has something to sell to tell you that you should buy it. If $1 enables him to reach 7,142 people, one penny puts him in touch with 71 people—you and 70 others. To tell you alone it costs him 1-71 part one penny puts him in touch with split up into 71 parts.

Certainly you would not stop to pick up 1-71 part of a penny if you saw it—and probably you would not be able to see it. However, try to imagine how small 1-71 part of a penny is and you can see how much it costs the manufacturer or storekeeper to tell you what he has which you should own.

Putting it another way, he can tell you 71 times or 71 days in succession or once a week for more than a year and a quarter at a cost of one penny.

That, then, is what it "costs" to advertise.

Let us suppose that there is a merchant who is not advertising in the newspaper. But he calls you up by telephone to let you know that he has this same article which he believes you ought to buy. The telephone message costs him two cents or 142 times as much as it would have cost him to reach you by putting one announcement in the newspaper.

Yet this same merchant may try to tell you that he can sell his merchandise cheaper to you because he does not advertise.

Remember this, the next time someone tells you that he can save you money because he does not advertise.

If the merchant writes you a letter it costs him two cents for the stamp alone and at the very least a penny more for paper and composition—three cents in all.

It is possible that the storekeeper who writes you a letter tells you that he does not advertise and that therefore, he can save you money. Whereas, the cost to him of calling your attention to what he has to sell by letter is 213 times as much as he would pay were he to advertise in the newspaper.

Putting it another way, he is able to reach 213 people by advertising for the same amount of money that he spends in reaching you alone by writing you a letter.

Remember this, too, when somebody tries to tell you how much money he can save you because he doesn't advertise.

Or, possibly the merchant doesn't telephone you and he doesn't write to you. You just happen to go into his store and you see something lying on the counter which interests you.

You ask the clerk about it. He tells you. You have never heard about it before. The name is unfamiliar. You wonder whether it is any good.

How many times have you tarried at a counter, one minute, two minutes or five minutes? Let us assume that it takes this clerk only three minutes to tell you that you should buy this unknown piece of merchandise. Certainly, the clerk's time is worth 40 cents an hour. It's probably worth more than this, but it is entirely conservative to say that it costs the storekeeper in clerk hire two pennies for this three minutes. That is 142 times more than it would have cost him to tell the same story by advertising it in the newspaper.

Remember that, too, when non-advertisers tell you that they can save you money by not advertising.

Summed up in a single sentence, advertising is economic. It enables a merchant or manufacturer to make more sales. By making more sales he can afford to take a less profit. And because this is true it will pay you to read advertising close by and constantly.

THE FEAR OF DEFEAT.

THE GREAT FEAR which saps human energies and strangles initiative and enterprise is THE FEAR OF DEFEAT.

This year is one which may wreck the fearful. It is also one which will reward the fighters and the courageous.

In a business such as yours this means courageous buying, vigorous selling, and courageous ADVERTISING.

You will want to increase rate of turn-over, because you realize that every day you keep an article of merchandise adds to its cost—a little more for rent, salaries, etc., tacked on which cuts the profit.

To do this you want to reach every family with money to spend.

You want to advertise to them more persuasively than ever before.

The families that read this newspaper are unusually responsive to good advertising because they have an earnestly loyal feeling for the newspaper itself.

Do you want more of their dollars this year? Remember that your answer to this question may very closely affect your reputation as a successful executive.

The year 1921 will be one of searching test—a year of keenest competition and bitterest rivalry.

Advertise courageously and advertise to ALL whose trade you want, whose dollars you invite.

THE KILLER.

The lady, with her little gun does murder with a smile because her lover tiresome one, has bored her quite a while. He doesn't wear his whiskers right, he is a careless toff; and so, some soft and balmy night, she calmly bumps him off. And when they bring her into court, the law's ancestral coop, the juryman, each one a sport, acquit her with a whoop. And then she feels that duty calls in no uncertain tones, and in the movie picture halls she ought to draw some bones. She wants to teach our boys and girls that vice their souls will harm, that homely virtues are the pearls, and sin's a false alarm. And while she's guarding thus the youth from all that evil means, and through the films expounding truth, she'll gather in the beans. But soon her hopes grow lank and lean, for movie men don't fall; they say, "The modern movie queen needs something more than gall." Methinks it is a hopeful sign that her ambition's stung that she is not allowed to shine and elevate the young. The young can find much better aids to higher life, I wist, and bloody little claramaids should fade, and won't be missed.

NATIVE OF ENGLAND BECOMES CITIZEN OF U. S. IN XENIA

Sydney Montague Bailey, 31, a native of London, England, is today a United States citizen.

Citizenship papers were granted Mr. Bailey by Judge R. L. Gowdy in Common Pleas Court Thursday afternoon, after an examination conducted by E. J. Kennedy, naturalization examiner of Cincinnati, who recommended the immediate acceptance of the candidate as a citizen.

Mr. Bailey was the first local applicant for citizenship admitted under the law regarding former soldiers, which excuses them of the necessity of going through the rigid oral examination which is the requirement of all other applicants. The government believes that a candidate is proven worthy of citizenship if he served during the war, and therefore does not subject the ex-servicemen candidates to the examination usually given.

Mr. Bailey was vouched for by his two brothers-in-law, Marshall Thomas and Thomas Taylor, who answered the same questions as the candidate, in regard to how long he had been in this country, whether he had ever been in any trouble, ever connected with any anarchistic organization, or believed in anarchy and whether he is of good moral standing. His honorable discharge was examined, and on the strength of the discharge papers, Mr. Kennedy addressed the Court: "The government recommends that this man be admitted to citizenship on the basis of this discharge."

Born in London, England, Mr. Bailey came to this country sixteen years ago. During the late World War he served in Company A, 34th Engineers, and was overseas in the Service of Supplies. He is a son of M. A. Bailey of this city. His brother-in-law, Thomas Taylor, who was born in Scotland, was admitted to citizenship in 1918.

"I am certainly glad it is all over," said Mr. Bailey after receiving his final papers. "I have been thinking about this moment for three years." He is the first local man naturalized here for some time and the first to be admitted under the soldiership ruling.

"If the candidate had not been a former soldier, he would have had to answer many questions regarding the basic principals of our government," said Mr. Kennedy, the examiner, following the admittance of the local man to citizenship.

"Candidates who have not been in the army, are not given this concession and they have to answer many intricate questions. In the cities there are Americanization schools, where the applicant can learn all he needs to know. It is surprising how well trained they become. Some of the candidate can tell you, how many amendments there have been to the Constitution, and what each of them is for, and other similar questions."

A few of the questions that are often asked these candidates for naturalization are given below. How many of them can you answer with out looking it up?

What is the Constitution of the United States?

When was the Constitution made?

By whom was the Constitution made?

What are the three branches of our government?

Explain the functions of each. Tell exactly how the president is elected.

Name the various United States Courts.

How is an amendment added to the Constitution?

Tell what is contained in the amendments that have so far been added.

When was the Declaration of Independence signed and for what reasons?

Prior to the Constitution how were these United States governed?

What are the qualifications of the President? A Senator? A Congressman?

How many counties in this state? How many Congressmen in the United States?

How many electors are there and why?

How many state Senators and State Representatives are there?

These are but a few of the questions asked, yet many of these foreign born residents, seeking admission to citizenship, can answer them better than many people born and raised here.

Mr. Kennedy said in questioning a candidate, several days ago, he asked the applicant for citizenship what the President's Cabinet was.

"Oh, you mean the President's ten advisers," said the applicant, evidently confusing the word with "advisers." Another candidate told him it was George Washington who discovered America.

MOOSE FAIR DRAWS CROWDS TO LODGE

Two hundred people have been on attendance each night at the Moose Fair, being conducted by the local Xenia Lodge No. 1629 of the Loyal Order of Moose, at the Moose Hall, at the corner of West and Main Streets, this week.

Many amusements are afforded the crowd, the popularity contest, refreshment stands, and booths being the leading features.

The Fair is the second annual event to be given by the local order, the event providing popular each year. The money gained from the Fair will be for the benefit of the Moose Lodge and the Women's Auxiliary of the Order.

On May 19, a public meeting will be held by the Order at the Opera House, at which Darius A. Brown, Supreme Dictator of the Moose will be present. Mr. Brown is former mayor of Kansas City, Missouri, and his presence will prove a large drawing card for the meeting. The members of the Lodge are extending a special invitation to the business men and the pupils of the High School, to the meeting.

THE NEW BUICK
IS A REAL 1921 MODEL

The Buick which you buy today is a real 1921 Model. It embraces not only the basic engineering which has made Buick famous, but all the improvements, developments and refinements which the most thorough and exacting tests up to this time have proven worth while.

Changing the color of the paint on a 1920 Model does not make it a 1921 Model, nor does putting a lot of "gim-cracks" on the dash have that result. It must go deeper than that.

We learn improved methods of carburation, of oiling; we learn that certain steels are better for certain parts of the car, than which have been in general use. We find methods of improving the electrical equipment and so on down the line.

So when you buy a 1921 Buick you get not only all the features which have made of it a world-famous car, but you get an up-to-the-minute model, one of the very few obtainable.

CAR OWNERS—Now is the time to have your car gone over and put in shape. Our Repair Department will give you the best service; only the best Mechanics employed, and with our labor charges reduced to you, you will save money by bringing your car to us for your repairs and supplies.

Our Top Department will repair your top or curtains, tell you what cost will be before we start; also our Tire Department will repair your casings and tubes while you get other work done.

It will pay you to see us for prices on tires, oils and accessories, as we have pre-war prices. No one lower on quality goods.

HIGH SCHOOL ABLY PRESENTS ANNUAL CLASS PERFORMANCE

Harold McGrath's popular novel, "The Man on the Box" admirably dramatized, was ably presented by the Class of 1921 of Central High School at the Opera House Thursday night as its class night performance.

The clever play of McGrath's "best seller," lends itself admirably to stage adaption, and a well-chosen cast of 15 students of the graduating class, interpreted the piece with the precision of professionals. A well filled house witnessed the performance and there is indication that Friday night, when the show will be repeated, even larger audience will be on hand.

The dream of a Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, honoring Miss Elwell as head of the English Department of Central High School and a faithful teacher who has directed many class night performances, was born Thursday night in the memorial presentation address, an annual feature, by Miss Elizabeth Dodds, Miss Dodds, in behalf of the class dedicated all of its funds, as classes have since 1909, to the Cox Memorial Athletic Field fund, reserving however, enough to place a bronze tablet in the auditorium of the new school building, dedicating the auditorium in the name of Miss Elwell. It is the wish of the class to have it known in the future as the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium.

The Thursday night entertainment opened with the singing of the class song composed by Miss Sabina Ross, by the entire class. The High School orchestra, composed of Miss Eula Cusick at the piano, Donald Currie, saxophone, Edward Reutinger, drums, and Miss Grace Lyle, and Morton Cresswell, violins, accompanied the singers.

John Wolford, president of the Senior Class, delivered the salutation. Miss Frances Loyd, sang a solo and Miss Doris Whittington led a chorus of 12 girls in the number "Ohio." In the chorus were Misses Leila Fudge, Mary Birch, Martha Finley, Virginia Phillips, Hetty June Holman, Kathryn Uhl, Jessie Mae Uhl and Georgia Jenner.

Probably the brightest part of the play was the little leading woman herself, Miss Gertrude Jones, who gave a splendid interpretation of the character of Miss Betty Annesley. Miss Jones never faltered through a rather difficult part in which she was required to occupy the stage most of the time and her rendition of the role was decidedly pleasing to the audience.

William LeSourd, in the male lead, was exceedingly easy on the stage, his interpretation being decidedly natural. In the part of Lieutenant Robert Warburton, he too had a difficult role, which kept him busy during the three acts of the play. William Davidson in the role of Charles Henderson, Miss Margaret Davis, as Mrs. Conway, Tom Kennedy as Officer O'Brien, Oran Collins, as Magistrate Watts, Leslie Bailey as Pierre, the chef, Miss Lucile Chambliss, as Cora the maid, John Moore as Col. Frank Raleigh and Kenneth Hudson as Col. Annesley and Clark Lackey as Count Karloff, had good parts in the piece, the first two having lines that were second only to the leads and cleverly carrying out their stage assignments. Lesser parts were taken by Ersie Hutchison, Richard M. Considine, Lewis McCoy and Miss Margaret Webster, and their parts rounded out the production of the piece to a nicety. The story itself offers much in the way of amusement to the audience, the plot being cleverly laid, and carried out well by the amateur players. Its repetition Friday night will undoubtedly be carried out with more finesse than the first performance and Friday night patrons are destined for a charming evening's entertainment. The success of the piece, especially the charming stage manner which Miss Jones assumes and thru which she captures her audience, bespeaks the days of coaching given by Miss Elwell.

The class of 1921 is the largest ever graduated from Central High. Its officers are John Wolford, president; Miss Gertrude Jones, vice-president; Miss Reba Anders, secretary and William Davidson, treasurer. Those who assisted in the production of "The Man on the Box" were Miss Elizabeth Dodds, business manager; Miss Lucile Chambliss, advertising manager; Miss Ruth Whittington, property manager; Phillip Moore, stage manager; Miss Laura Downs, chairman of the committee on decorations. Miss Frances Loyd, chairman of the committee on music and Miss Eula Cusick, pianist.

Simplicity and Comfort.

When a golfer has learned the correct manner of holding a club when addressing the ball, the next question is as to how he should stand when addressing the ball. This question of stance deserves greater attention than it usually receives, for it plays a highly important part in the rhythmic movement of a golf stroke.

Any one who has ever watched many golfers at play cannot fail to have noticed the varieties of stance employed and in consequence the onlooker becomes totally confused as to the proper stance for the various shots. We have all seen the queer positions baseball players get into, but contrary to the belief of the average golfer, and notwithstanding the fact that one is trying to hit a flying ball and the golfer one upon the ground, the stances of the golfer are the more various of the two.

This is an unfortunate condition, for with a stance that varies considerably according to impulse no man can be fairly certain of any particular shot at any particular time. Chance will always play a large part in any game but if a man has no particular way of holding his club, or standing or swinging, every stroke will be a wild adventure into an unknown land.

When I was in the thick of my early struggles with the difficulties of the game, two words began to burn themselves into my consciousness. They were simplicity and comfort. In those early days I was using numerous stances for every shot, with a nerve racking attention to details, which make the royal game a nightmare for many beginners. Now I use one stance for full shots, and another for half or quarter shots, and the details merely approximate certain standards.

Stances are usually spoken of as open or square, and most of the others are variations, often wide ones of these two methods. The toe of the right foot is placed on an imaginary straight line at right angles to the line of play, and in the square stance both toes are about on the line. The relative positions of the feet to this line really describe the sort of stance.

My own game was learned peacefully and what I have now is a survival of a discard of many years. I think I have tried every imaginable stance. In my early days of golf it was popular to play the open stance with the left foot behind the right. I tried this and found myself pulling across the ball and thereby slicing. It was all right on the half and quarter shots, where one could swing almost straight, but the minute the club gets beyond the half club length it begins to get off the imaginary straight line.

If you watch the leading present day players you will notice that they all use the square for their long shots. Of course, I mean approximately. Even in my own game I occasionally drop my eyes to my feet and see them sometimes on the straight line drawn at right angles to the line to the hole, and sometimes the left is a little ahead of the right, or sometimes a little behind the right, but always very close to what may be called an exactly square stance. These little variations may be attributed to comfort obtained at that particular moment by the setting of the feet.

One day I found myself playing badly, with both feet pointed straight, and I just turned them out a bit and discovered that was the ideal position for the pivot. The heels may rise, but neither foot should be completely lifted.

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF ALEXANDER II.

There is an old fable which very well illustrates the life and endeavors of Alexander II, emperor of Russia. The fable is that of a man and his son on their way to market with a mule. When the father rides travelers denounce him as being cruel to his son. When the son rides, he is jeered at for letting an old man walk. When they lead the mule, they are spoken of as not using the mule's energy and when they both ride they are said to be cruel to the beast. In some versions of the fable, they end up by carrying the mule, thus astonishing travelers into silence.

Alexander II also tried to please everyone and succeeded in pleasing no one. Russia then, as now was torn by opposing forces. Alexander tried to steer a course between them. Had he possessed the great gift of leadership he would have united them with him. As it was it made them both disappointed.

He was born in Russia and rarely left the country. He did not like military life, though Russia's strength was her army. When he ascended the throne at the age of 37, he set about the reforms he had always dreamed of. He made the serf into a freeman with more privileges than any other man of his class in the world of that period. No one was pleased with anything. Alexander went into a state of continual mental depression and a Nihilist ended his career with a bomb when he was 63 years old.

QUESTION OF CITY MANAGER IS STILL BEFORE COMMISSION

The ordinance fixing the salary of City Auditor T. H. Zell at $3,600 in order to compensate him for doing the temporary work of the City Manager, when placed in its second reading at the meeting of the City Commission Thursday night, was the signal for more argument on the manager proposition.

Commissioners Fisher and Whalen, who objected to the transfer of the Manager's duties to the shoulders of Mr. Zell at the last meeting, again objected to the arrangement, and said that the plan was not meeting with the approval of the general public. However, the ordinance passed on its second reading, and in due time will become effective.

The vote on the salary ordinance proved that the three Commissioners, Charters, Frazer and De Haven, were standing by the plan to leave City Auditor Zell in actual power in the city administration, until a successor to Manager Riddle could be selected, and that they also felt that he was worthy of the Manager's salary as long as he is doing the work.

Whether a manager will be appointed by this Commission, is still a question. There is a feeling among some of the Commissioners that a new Commission will come into power next January that it would be unwise to select a Manager now, who if he did not meet with the approval of the new Commission, would stand the chance of losing the position by January 1.

"I have fifty applications for the job," said Mr. Charters, "coming from all types of men in all parts of the United States, and it is my opinion that a proper man could be selected from these." The question of a manager may be taken up at the next meeting of the Commission.

SELECT DELEGATES FOR D. OF A. RALLY NEXT THURSDAY

Delegates and alternates were elected by the Xenia Council, No. 140, of the Daughters of America, for the district rally to be held by the district council No. 8, at Columbus, on Thursday, May 5. Delegates elected were, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Hazel Griffith, and Mrs. William C. Harner, alternates being Mrs. Anna Buckles, Mrs. Barbara Smith and Mrs. Rose Reese. Mrs. Amos E. Paulkner, of this city, district deputy of the order, will also be present at the rally, with Mrs. Pearl Brown, state counselor.

Delegates and alternates from the Obelisk Lodge, No. 160, have not been elected and will be decided upon at the next meeting of the Lodge.

DAYTON MEN LEASE LAND TO DEVELOP OIL SHALE, REPORT

A company of Dayton men have leased a high hill at Slate Mills, three miles west of Chillicothe, for the purpose of developing the millions of tons of oil shale in the hill, and in the near future the quiet little village on the North Fork of Paint creek may have one of the greatest oil shale refineries in this part of the United States.

The hill, which rises abruptly from the creek and is upward of 300 feet in height is said to be almost solid oil shale of a high grade and if the men back of the venture find that tests now being made show that the quantity of oil obtainable is in sufficient quantity to pay for installing the expensive equipment, it is their intention to proceed with the work.

The shale appears in the form of "slate" and is so hard that blasting is necessary to obtain it. Chunks of the shale or shale, when placed in fire will soon be burning as brightly as coal, and if allowed to burn will eventually be reduced to ashes, while the crude oil sputters from it. Until heated there is little odor about the shale, but when once heated it emits a pronounced smell of oil or tar.

Some years ago a fire built by some campers ignited the oil shale ledge, and it is claimed that the shale burned for a period of three years before it was extinguished by pouring water upon it to prevent it spreading and causing a serious forest fire during an extremely dry season.

Several other oil shale conversion enterprises are being planned for Ross county, and within a few years it is expected sufficient gasoline will be produced from the shale to operate tens of thousands of motor driven vehicles.

Easy For Thin People To Put On Flesh, Gain Weight

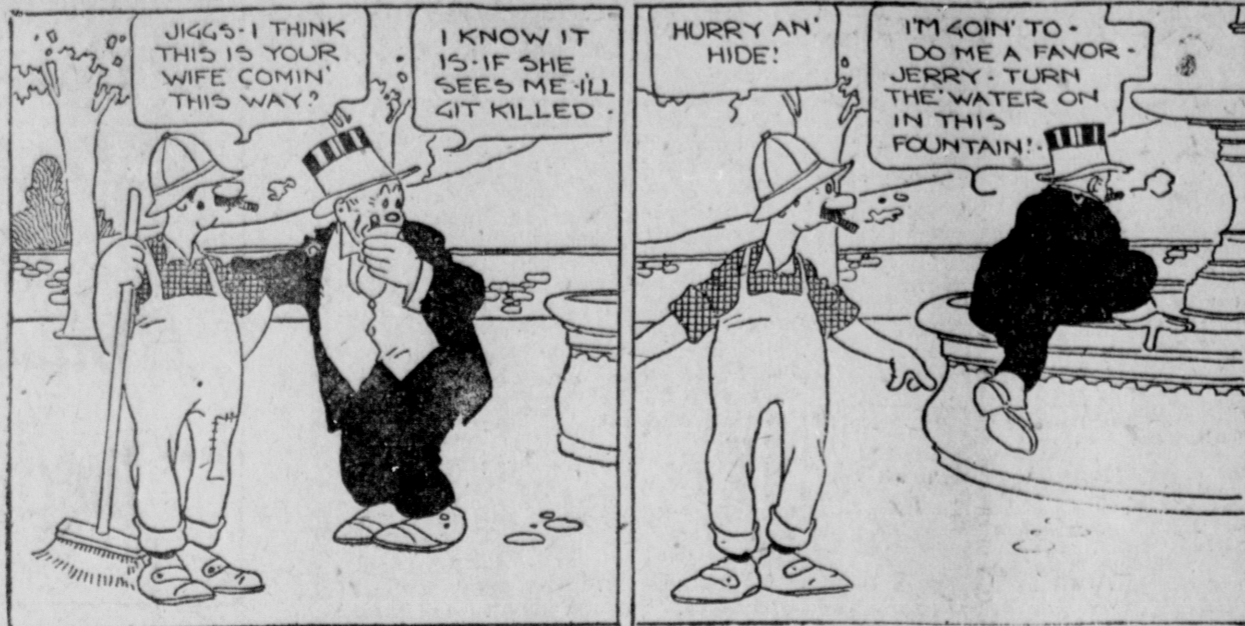

It is such an easy matter nowadays for thin, weak, scrawny people to put on good, healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all skin and bone," ungainly and unpleasant to look upon.

Physicians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts into the stomach to turn into good, rich, flesh-making blood instead of going to waste, would also discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin under-nourished people and this has now been accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous, weak, or lack vigor and vitality, you can secure at any good pharmacy at moderate cost, a ten days' treatment of EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES, a new combination of flesh producing, muscle building, strength creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on your body and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physicians who have watched the results of the Evans' Triple Phosphates treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five to ten pounds of desirable weight is gained. Schatz's Drug Store and Sayre & Hemphill have agreed to supply readers of this paper with Evans' Triple Phosphates and to guarantee it to go just what is claimed for it or money returned.

PIQUA GUN CLUB PLANS BIG TIME

Piqua, O., April 29.—Monday, May 2, promises to be a big day in the history of the Ormont Gun Club of this city. The day will be a big day in the history of this club and will be a national event as all the gun clubs and prominent shooters of United States and Canada have been invited. Great interest is being manifested in all sections of the country and Mr. H. S. Greenamyer is daily receiving requests at a lively rate for hotel reservations. It is a certainty that shooters of international fame will attend this match as the best of them have already been entered. Included in the list of topnotchers who have been entered are several members of the Olympic team.

The local club boasts of one of the fastest five men teams in the country and the Ormont club has won more trophies than any other gun club in the country.

FIX SALARIES OF WATER WORKS EMPLOYEES AT CITY COMMISSION MEETING THURSDAY

The ordinance fixing the amounts of salaries of employees of the municipal water works department was passed when read for the second time at the meeting of the City Commission, Thursday night.

The following were read for the first time; an ordinance requiring the D. X. & X. S. Railway Company to sprinkle with water its right of way on certain streets; an ordinance to provide a fund in anticipation of the assessments for the cleaning and sweeping of certain streets; a resolution declaring it necessary to improve certain streets by cleaning, sprinkling and sweeping and establishing special assessment districts and a resolution authorizing the construction of sidewalks on certain streets.

The streets specified are Center, Collier, East Church, Locust, Monroe, Mechanic, North Miami avenue, Owens avenue, East Second, Trumbull, West, Washington and Galloway streets.

THIRD HAUL MADE BY GANG OF THUGS

Troy, April 29.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Landis, residing on West Dow street, Tippecanoe City, was looted before 10:30 o'clock Monday evening, according to word from that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Landis had been in Dayton and on returning home at 10:30 o'clock found the house turned topsy-turvy, and an investigation disclosed several valuable articles had been taken. Mr. Landis is a conductor on the Dayton and Troy traction line.

This is the third robbery pulled off in Tippecanoe City during the past ten days and in the other two the burglars made their escape in automobile.

AUTO THEIVING IS ON THE INCREASE

Piqua, April 29.—The automobile stealing business seems to be thriving. Monday morning the chief of police received post cards which notified him of the theft of twenty-five cars in Ohio and the adjoining vicinity. The thieves do not confine their choice to any particular kind of car and many expensive ones were included in the list. Every day the mail brings several notifications of this kind to police headquarters to be added to the long list which they already have there.

The Commission ordered Auditor Zell to have a gasoline filling station pump on the East side of South Detroit street in front of the Xenia Auto Necessity Company's store removed at once, acting on orders of a Deputy State Fire Marshall. The official called attention to the fact that the pump is within twelve feet of the right of way of the Pennsylvania railroad which is against the law. It will be removed immediately.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

Chapter 28.
The next day I again mentioned Erma Longstreet and her husband to Keith.

"How old a man is her husband?" he asked.

"About 23."

"I never care for men of that age. They are as I was then rather raw."

"But you are only six or seven years older."

"One learns a good deal in seven years, Vera. These friends if you wish, but don't expect me to waste much time with him. I would be bored."

"But they aren't as young as I, and you weren't bored with me," I insisted. "That is quite beside the question. We won't discuss them, but do not accept invitations without consulting me—those that include me."

"But you told Erma."

"Yes, I know!" impatiently. "But one has to be polite, and then I had no idea her husband would be so young."

"I'm sorry."

"Now you are peeved, Vera." But just because he kissed me, and laughed at me for being a child. I forgot to be indignant and cuddled close in his arms. To argue with him always made him angry and I tried to hold back the things I should have said if it did not.

The very next morning Erma called me up and asked us to dinner.

"I am giving a small dinner next week Friday. Can you and your husband come?"

"No, Keith has an engagement. I felt justified in telling the lie because of custom, and also because I did not want to hurt Erma's feelings.

"I'm so sorry! Another time then." Tears were in my eyes when I hung up the receiver. I did so want friends of my own age, someone congenial.

The next day Margaret and I called on Erma. She seemed so pleased to see us, and was so sweet that I could see Margaret was a bit taken with her. She had a lovely apartment daintily and attractively furnished, and her tea and cakes were delicious. Margaret declared she would not be able to eat any dinner she had eaten so many cakes.

"I am sorry you can't come to dinner next week," Erma, said when we were leaving.

"No more sorry than I am," I returned.

Erma turned to Margaret.

"I hope you will come to dinner some night with Vera and her husband, Mrs. Dalton."

"Thank you, I shall be charmed if I have nothing to prevent." Margaret had replied in her sweetest tones and I was at a loss to understand her until that evening I heard her say to Keith:

"That friend of Vera's is an awfully good cook. I think we must accept her next dinner invitation."

It was Erma's cooking that had made Margaret amenable, not Erma herself. Margaret was rather of a glutton in regard to food and I used to think it one reason she was so anxious to keep us with her. She set a very elaborate table and made Keith pay for it.

"Very well, Margaret."

Keith had assented at once to Margaret's wish that they dine with Erma and her husband, while mine had been of no account. I bit my lip until it bled to keep from crying, or saying things I should regret afterward.

Very soon after we were married Keith let me understand he would brook no questioning from me as to his actions. So, although he had dressed before dinner, I had asked no questions.

"I shall be late," he said as he put on his hat and coat. "Go to bed, Vera." Then he kissed me, afterward kissing Margaret.

It had been only that day I had asked him please to kiss Margaret first when he was leaving us, and me last. But he had scolded me for being so childish, and I knew had purposely followed his regular habit of giving her the last caress to punish me.

After he left I threw myself on the bed and cried for an hour. He refused to go to Erma's with me, then because Margaret asked him promised willingness to go. He wouldn't even kiss me good bye last. He was afraid Margaret might notice it and be hurt. I thought—my heart full of bitterness. He didn't care how much he hurt me, he never had.

"I won't stand it much longer!" I wailed, knowing perfectly well I should stand anything rather than lose Keith.

Listen Ladies!

WE offer you something that has solved all baking problems in millions of homes—that is economical to buy and economical to use and we do not believe the shrewd housewife of XENIA, will refuse to test the truth of these statements.

Manufacturers of other brands of baking powder know better than anyone else how good Calumet Baking Powder really is.

They know it is pure and wholesome and that in a great majority of cases when a housewife has tried Calumet she will use nothing else. Consequently they attempt to prevent a trial wherever possible.

They are actuated by purely selfish motives—they fear you will quit buying what they have to offer and use something that may prove to be a great deal better. Learn the facts about baking powder and then decide for yourself. You can try Calumet—at our risk. If it isn't the best baking powder you ever had in your kitchen it won't cost you a penny.

The exceptional merit of Calumet is proved by the efforts of competitors to prevent a trial.
